OVERVIEW

Frank's practice focuses primarily on the preparation and prosecution of design, utility, and international patent applications. His practice also includes intellectual property consulting.

Frank specializes in various technologies ranging from artificial intelligence software to medical imaging hardware. Prior to joining Klarquist, he served as a technology specialist to many clients in the technical field where he evaluated invention disclosures for patentability, performed patent landscape searches, prepared patent applications, developed strategies for foreign Office actions, and handled prosecution of applications by preparing Office action responses, appeal briefs, and declarations.

Frank joined Klarquist as a technical specialist in 2021.
