OVERVIEW

Greg serves as an in-house resource for the Klarquist litigation team focusing on technology to support litigation projects. While Greg concentrates on providing e-discovery support for complex litigation, he is equally adept at exploring creative applications of technology to find efficient approaches for meeting day to day challenges when managing data.

Before joining Klarquist, Greg spent fifteen years in Seattle working as consultant and vendor. Working closely with clients, Greg coordinated discovery for complex litigation including Federal Grand Jury and Federal Regulatory Investigations as well as class action matters. Helping clients use their in-house technology or designing custom solutions, Greg established long-term working relationships with Seattle City Attorney's Office as well as law firms across the US and Canada.

Greg joined the firm as a Litigation Technology Analyst in 2018.
